MOSCOW, Aug. 4.—German defense forces on the outskirts of Orel today fell back on their third line of defense in full retreat as charging Russian armies surged forward and moved up big artillery pieces to bombard the city.

Corridor Narrowed
Front-line dispatches today said the Russian pincer on Orel has narrowed the Germans' escape corridor to the west to 13 miles. All highways surrounding the base were reported under constant fire by Soviet artillery.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—German forces retreating on the Orel front are attempting to escape pursuing Soviet units by mining roads and bridges and erecting road blocks, the Moscow radio said today.
The broadcast, reported by the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service, quoted a report to the newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda on developments south of Orel. This dispatch said the Soviets were "swiftly overcoming the obstacles put up by the enemy, are clearing minefields, forcing water barriers and engaging the enemy in battle."

PA NEWCO OBSERVES

Auto traffic seems to be increasing on the streets here in the past few weeks.

Overheard at a bus stop: "Let's walk, I'm too tired to take a bus."

Something new and different in a sandwich is the G. A. C. sandwich which is a new addition to the menu of a local lunch counter. It's name is a tribute to the Girls Athletic club drill company of the senior high school.

Despite the weather conditions which have not been very adaptable this summer, quite a large amount of house painting seems to be in progress in the city.

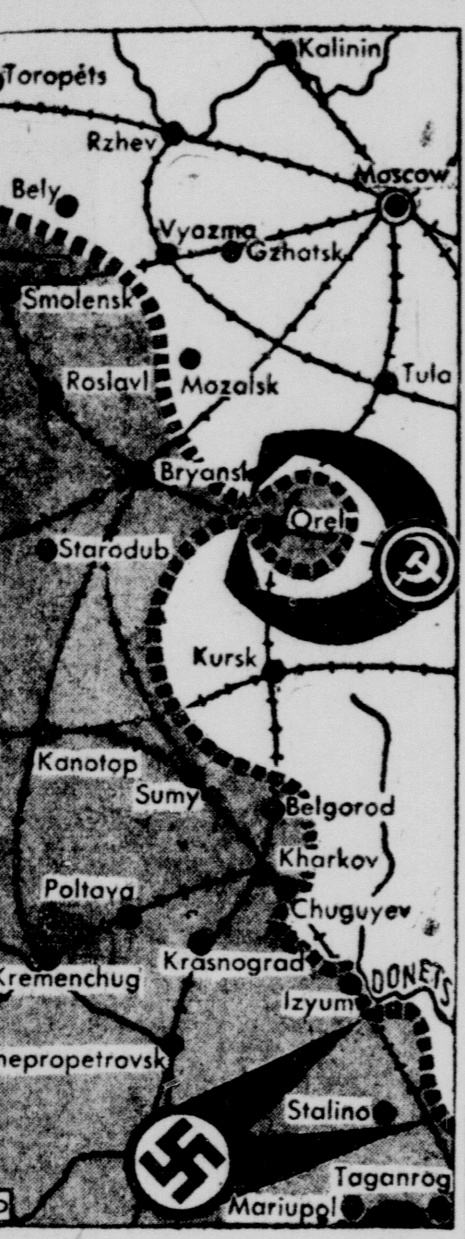

According to action taken by Governor Martin autos will carry only one license tag in Pennsylvania next year. Inability to get material for two tags caused the move.

Spectators were rather interested in noting that a considerable proportion of the drivers taking a caravan of huge new trucks through the city on Tuesday afternoon were women.

See Evidences German Morale Is Weakening

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—An authoritative digest of reports to the American government during the past few weeks on internal conditions within Germany today described German civilian morale as being nearer the cracking point than at any time since the debacle of 1918.
At the same time, authoritative quarters warned against the American nation taking it for granted however that Germany will crack up within a short time.
Must Crush Germany
The only certain assurance of an Allied victory, these quarters emphasized, is by crushing Germany through continued and increasingly heavy military blows against the Nazi armies on the ground and against German cities from the air.
Nevertheless, the picture of German morale today, which the American government has carefully pieced together from hundreds of authenticated reports, is one of gradual internal dissolution. It shows for the first time in this war that the whole Nazi fabric may be expected to crumble suddenly upon application of greater military pressure by the American and British ground armies, air forces and navies from the south and west of Europe and by the Russian armies from the east.
Mass Aerial Blows Telling
When the crackup will come, authoritative quarters believe, will depend on the timing of the Mass Aerial Blows Telling.

Japanese Resistance Is Stiffening Says Report From Pacific Headquarters

ALLIED PLANES HIT NEARLY 200 BARGES

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 4.—American doughboys and Marines closing in on the Munda airfield in the Solomons today battled against increasing Japanese resistance after advancing to the eastern end of the New Georgia Island base.
Further inland, our troops have occupied the northeastern slopes of Bibilo Hill, today's Allied communiqué announced. "The advance on other parts of the front continues against stiffened enemy resistance."
Supported by Bombers
The American advances were supported by medium and heavy bombers which blasted enemy positions and installations on both shores of nearby Bairoko Harbor, the Munda garrison's supply port. Many fires and explosions resulted.
In the New Guinea-New Britain area to the west, Allied warplanes destroyed at least 19 Jap barges, raising to nearly 200 the total of Jap barges sunk in the last 10 days.
In addition, bomb hits were scored on one of two large enemy vessels, believed to be destroyers. The ships were attacked by a medium bomber over Dampier Strait, New Britain. Two large explosions resulted.
At Finschhafen, New Guinea, enemy supply base, an entire flotilla of nine barges spotted in the Mape river, was destroyed. At Cape Gloucester, New Britain, 10 of a concentration of 20 barges in Borgen Bay were definitely destroyed and the remainder wrecked or damaged, some of which carried ammunition cargoes.
Ruin 200 Barges
"Our barge offensive during the last 10 days has destroyed or rendered useless nearly 200 enemy barges," the bulletin from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced. "Many were undoubtedly used as troop carriers, some as swimming pools on the theory that he may have drowned while attempting to flee."
Krug, the object of a nation-wide search in 1942 and whose subsequent capture led to the arrest and conviction of Max Stephan on a treason charge, was clad only in a pair of blue swimming trunks when he vanished "virtually into thin air."
American and Canadian investigators are scouring the heavy underbrush of the surrounding countryside, it was revealed. Authorities believe that Krug may have holed in awaiting a better opportunity to make a getaway.

NAZI AIRFIELDS AGAIN BOMBED

R. A. F. Fliers Attack Airfields In France—Hamburg Is Still Burning

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 4.—Whirlwind bombers of the British Royal Air Force last night wrought considerable damage on the Nazi airfield at Guptavas near Brest, France, the air ministry announced today.
Bomb bursts were observed near station buildings, said the communiqué. All of the bombers returned safely.
Escorting Spitfire fighters destroyed two Focke-Wulf 190's and severely damaged a number of others. Three British fighter pilots were reported missing.
Typhoons damaged a small supply ship and seven escorting vessels off Le Havre yesterday, the communiqué said.
The bomb-shattered port of Hamburg meanwhile still was aflame as a result of the yesterday's early morning block-buster assault, the ninth bombardment suffered by the city in 10 days.
It was estimated unofficially that the heavy RAF and Canadian bombers dropped another 2,300 tons of explosives on the port, bringing to four the total of assaults in the current campaign in which that weight of missiles was dropped on the city.
If Hamburg can be completely knocked out, it was said, 30 per cent of Germany's U-boat production will be eliminated.

Krug Search Is Intensified

(International News Service)
GRAVENHURST, Ont., Aug. 4.—An intensive search for Hans Peter Krug, Nazi oberleutnant, who a second time escaped from a Canadian prison camp, continued today as authorities dragged the camp swimming pool on the theory that he may have drowned while attempting to flee.
Krug, the object of a nation-wide search in 1942 and whose subsequent capture led to the arrest and conviction of Max Stephan on a treason charge, was clad only in a pair of blue swimming trunks when he vanished "virtually into thin air."

Midwest Opposes Gas Equalization

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Opposition of midwest members of congress to the gasoline "equalization" program developed today as it was learned that petroleum chief Ickes is not yet prepared to announce the reduction in fuel supplies midwesterners will be asked to take under the plan, due to go into operation about the middle of this month.
Commenting on Ickes' proposal to provide an equal gasoline ration for motorists in all areas east of the Rocky Mountains, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) declared that the midwest will fight a reduction in supplies if the purpose is to divert gas to the east to ease "political pressure."

New Phase Of Aerial Warfare Has Developed

Hamburg Battering And Romanian Attack Reveal New War Pattern

FORECASTS TERROR FOR AXIS NATIONS

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The air assault against the Nazi city of Hamburg and the bombing of the Ploesti oilfield in Rumania mark a distinctly new phase of aerial combat in World War Two.
Hamburg has been bombed nine times in ten days. Never before has Allied air power made such a continuous attack against the same objective. The results of this offensive hurled at a single target are many, and they fill the hearts of Hitler, Hirohito, and their satellite leaders and all the populations of the Axis countries with terror.
Can Select Any City
First, the offensive has demonstrated that the supreme and high command of the United Nations can select any city or any military target within flying range and literally bomb it out of existence. This means Berlin, or Tokio, or any other key location. Hitler knows that his Berlin headquarters or his mountain hideout are no longer safe.
The inhabitants of Axis-occupied countries have in the past believed that any city might become the target once, even for a devastating raid, but thought continuing daily attacks would be impossible. They reasoned that, once a warning was given, anti-aircraft and fighter plane defense would be so increased that the repeat assaults could not be accomplished.
Serve Notice Of Strength
The assaults against Hamburg have served notice to the world that the air strength of the United Nations has reached such a tremendous size that air raids of this kind can be kept up anywhere in Axis territory. Not only kept up, but, grow stronger. It shows the new terrified followers of Hitler

Old Timers Day Plans Progress Gets Stunning Air Assaults

Annual Reunion Will Be Held At Accustomed Time At Cascade Park

PIONEERS WILL ASSEMBLE AGAIN

While Old Timers Day this year will probably not attract as many visitors from a distance as it has in past years, yet the committee in charge of arrangements is looking for a big crowd of localities, descendants of those pioneer families who resided in Lawrence county prior to 1865, when the 37th annual reunion takes place at Cascade Park on Wednesday, August 18.
The hours will be from 1:30 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and these hours are not expected to put any additional strain on bus transportation facilities here, as the crowd will be going out to the park at a slack period and will be returning when there is little bus traffic into the city.
One of the features, which has been worked out in recent years and which is expected to be stressed this year, will be the display of relics and antiques from life in the early days of the county. President Richard P. Dana stated today. Plans for this are now under way.
This reunion is for all residents living here prior to 1865, their descendants and friends, it is stated.

London Hears Italians In Milan And Turin Demand King And Badoglio Quit

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 4.—Italians in Milan and Turin were reported today to have demanded the abdication of King Victor Emmanuel and resignation of Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio because of their failure to make peace with the Allies.
While there were no further reports of violence from these centers which were said to have been torn by anti-Fascist riots following the resignation of Mussolini, other dispatches from the continent told of disturbances in and near the large northern port of Genoa.
One report via Berne, Switzerland, said that troops armed with sabres were called into disperse dock workers demonstrating against Badoglio and that at least 100 persons were injured in the clash.

U. S. Warships Join In Attack Against Sicily

Bombard Enemy's Escape Route As Yanks Make New Advances

NAZIS ARE BEING DRIVEN FURTHER BACK

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 4.—Hard fighting doughboys of the Seventh Army today hurled the Germans back another six miles along the northern Sicilian front today while American warships bombarded the enemy's escape route and supporting aircraft blasted installations on both Sicily and the mainland.
The newest American advance was scored along the enemy's crumbling northern front in the area of Catania, which fell to the advancing troops. At the same time, fighting near Catania on the east coast rose to new fury as the British Eighth Army moved forward despite fierce enemy resistance.
Navy Aids Attacks
American cruisers and destroyers took up positions off the northern shore of the embattled island, just west of Cape Orlando on the route of the doughboy's advance, and hurled tons of shells onto the narrow coastal road and enemy positions at the left flank of the Seventh Army.
The town of Adrano and gun emplacements in the surrounding area were bombed by Allied fliers, who then turned their attention to enemy vehicles. Speedy fighter squadrons patrolled by day and night over the battle area, giving support to the advancing ground forces, a communiqué issued at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced.
Late Tuesday night, the statement added, railroad communications at

Gen. Eisenhower Directed Sicily Move From Malta

By CLINTON GREEN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 4.—A poetic revenge probably without parallel in history was revealed today with official disclosure that Malta, the Mediterranean island bombed 3,000 times by the Nazis and Italians, was chosen as official headquarters for the invasion of Sicily.
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower established and maintained headquarters on the tiny rocky islet and from there directed the most ambitious and most successful amphibious operation in the annals of warfare.
Of Strategic Importance
Malta was chosen because of its strategic importance. But its quarter-million residents, who collectively received an award from King George VI for their incredible courage in the face of ceaseless and remorseless attack, must have sensed in this decision of Gen. Eisenhower a feeling of just vengeance, and retribution. It was from Sicily that

He found the dentist knew his stuff, now he has store teeth looking fine, which only proves some toothsome thing, the weather's damp and seventy-nine.

One Auto License Plate Next Year

Governor Martin Uses War-time Powers To Provide For Change

SECTION OF STATE CODE SET ASIDE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—Gov. Edward Martin and legislative officials were scheduled to exercise their authority under the so-called "war powers" law for the first time today by suspending for the duration of the war a section of the motor vehicle code requiring automobiles to display two license plates.

The suspension was asked, the governor said, by the War Production board and was certified by U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle because of a serious lack of metal. Motorists received a small red tab to be affixed to 1942 plates for use during 1943, but Governor Martin said they were too frail and the bureau of motor vehicles has been forced to issue more than 100,000 replacements.

Material For One Plate

"The War Production board will not give us enough materials except for one plate," he declared. The small red plate is not very satisfactory.

He said the state had experimented with plastic plates but they were unsatisfactory. The use of one license plate during 1944 will save an estimated 600 tons of metal, the governor explained.

The war powers bill authorizes the governor to suspend laws hampering the war effort upon the certification of the U. S. attorney general and with the consent of legislative officials. The law specified the governor must have the consent of a majority of the votes cast by Speaker of the House Ira T. Fiss, House Majority Leader Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, House Minority Leader Reuben E. Cohen; President Pro Tempore of the Senate Charles H. Ealy; Senate Majority Leader Weldon B. Heyburn; and State Minority Leader Bernard B. McGinnis.

pend largely upon how rapidly the Allies are able to knock Italy out of the war, and bring to bear on cities of eastern Germany the sustained mass aerial hammer blows that Hamburg has undergone during the past 10 days.

These quarters, in the light of events within Italy of the past week, now believe that Germany itself may crack up within during the coming winter. The blow may be delayed, however, until next spring or fall when the full weight of the combined American-British military offensive is brought to bear against the Nazis.

They regard the morale effect of the fall of Italy on all Europe of the greatest importance, and expect Germany's central European satellites to desert her swiftly after Italy is decisively removed from the war.

Main Factors Cited

Among the main factors cited are: 1. Germany's inability to launch a full scale offensive against the Russians this summer, and failure of even her limited offensive in the Orel sector.

2. The falling off of plane and tank production, as well as of the manufacture of other important offensive weapons, indicating that Germany is scraping the bottom of the barrel of her resources, both in materials and in effective war workers. Some 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 of these workers have been forced to work in Reich factories in Belgium, France, Holland, Norway and other occupied countries.

3. Authentic reports that German business men who had been sent into the Balkans to exploit those occupied countries are beginning to pull up stakes and return to Germany, just as they have been doing in Italy.

4. Further drastic curtailment of the already strictly limited rations in Germany, especially meat.

5. Widespread internal disruption and fear caused by the devastating raids on Hamburg and the cities of the Ruhr.

The German government has been so fearful of the effect of events in Italy on the morale of their people, it was learned, that they have not yet permitted it to be known that Benito Mussolini has been ousted.

"crushing numerical superiority" and said that the fury of the Soviet attacks hardly be surpassed.

Red Star, official newspaper of the Soviet army, said that one group of Russian tanks advanced a distance of four and one-quarter miles yesterday and that their progress was so swift that the Nazis had no time to destroy equipment.

The Russians were closest to Orel just south of that vital German base at the northern end of the southern front, following capture of Svch, last station from Orel on the railroad line from Kursk. Also among 50 communities overrun by the Russians south, east and north of Orel during the last 24 hours were the rail towns of Domino and Platovka, both little more than six miles from the Nazi base on the east.

Largest Gains

The greatest gains were scored north and northwest of Orel. Here the Germans were forced to retreat under heavy Russian blows as the advancing Soviets, supported by tanks, attacked constantly, killing more than 2,000 Germans and knocking out 13 enemy tanks, 12 big guns and 19 motor vehicles. Up to 1,500 more Nazi troops were killed in new Russian advances south and southwest of Orel, where battlefields were littered with eight German tanks, the wreckage of four mobile guns and 19 field guns, 10 mortars and 18 machine-guns. Here the Soviets captured 19 guns, six radio transmitting stations and an ammunition dump. In the same area, Russian airmen shot down 76 Nazi planes in the last four days.

In one sector of the Belgorod front south of the Orel battle area, strong German reconnaissance efforts were repulsed and 300 Nazi slain in one battle in which three field guns, 19 machine guns, 18 motor vehicles and three radio transmitters were captured.

On the Leningrad front in the north, where Soviet artillery has been active for several days, a German infantry battalion was wiped out and 35 enemy firing points, 11 dugouts and five observation points were destroyed. In addition, Russian airmen brought down 21 German planes, crippled four others, destroyed several trains and more than 50 motor vehicles and blew up five ammunition dumps.

Hand-to-hand fighting broke out on the Karelian front where one Russian unit broke into German trenches, wiped out a Nazi company, took prisoners and demolished seven firing points.

Russian torpedo boats sank an enemy patrol boat and two trawlers in the Finnish gulf.

Naples was blasted heavily, while intruder planes last night swept in force over much of southern Italy.

Good Progress

The official statement said of the land fighting that "very satisfactory progress has been made, especially in the left sector of the Eighth Army front, where the enemy is fighting desperately."

"South of Catania patrol activity has increased while further inland our troops have pushed forward in some cases several miles. . . . In the northern sector advances up to six miles in some cases have been made in spite of rugged and difficult country."

By smashing forward into the Nazi positions guarding the northern approaches to Messina the Americans were carried forward an appreciable distance along the coast of the Tyrrhenian Sea toward Cape Orlando.

According to military sources the "Germans are continuing to contest every step forward and fighting as hard as they ever had fought anywhere, even leaving their dead to be buried by the Americans."

Army Rolls Ahead

Through the smoke of battle the Seventh Army rolled forward from the south beyond Troina. The hills crags and canyons in that sector are hiding the actual progress of the American troops. The forces of the Seventh Army are striking the distance of the key points of the Etna line defenses.

Pierce battles were in progress southeast of captured Taormina where the German counter-attacks with tanks for the first time in a week. They were driven back after losing three tanks, including one large Tiger tank, as British infantry stood its ground despite lunges of the Nazi Hermann Goering Division.

The capture of Agrigola in the center of the line by the American troops proved a brilliant new triumph for the record. It was a triumph against the tenacious 15th Panzer Division.

Canadians Advance

At headquarters it was learned that in the bloody struggle Agrigola changed hands many times before the Canadians hurled the Germans back after inflicting severe casualties on them. The victory enabled the Canadians to push rapidly into German defenses and effect a breach which resulted in the seizure of the town.

Britain's Eighth Army remained in combat for the upper hand on the Catania plain where the tide of battle rapidly approached a climax. A grand-scale air and land knock-out blow was expected to be delivered by the British as a windup.

The main force of Britain's powerful eighth army hammered relentlessly at the southern approaches to the city after crossing the Dittaino river while to the north-west combined British and Canadian forces pressing eastward from captured Centuripe threatened the port from behind.

Nazi Defense Wavers

Army and naval forces of the seventh army sent the entire northern wing of the enemy defense line reeling backward to the last of the Etna line defenses after making a deep penetration into the Nazi flank between Mistretta and Troina.

With swarms of allied aircraft softening the enemy positions before them, the Americans, Britons and Canadians moved forward in the crumbling Messina bridgehead under cover of devastating artillery fire.

The British and Canadians supporting the eighth army frontal drive on Catania concentrated their blows in the Adriano region, 18 miles northwest of Catania after gaining control of Centuripe and Regalbuto. The plight of the German defenders was increased by the present Italian shelling of their coastal escape corridor by allied warships.

Bombard Coastal Road

One squadron of ships hit the coastal road and rail line south of Taormina, midway between Catania and Messina, threatening to disrupt enemy communications between Messina and Etna as well as cutting off the road of Nazi escape from Catania.

The Americans in their decisive push through the northern flank kept pace with the British eighth army drive to crush the southern end of the enemy line. They collapsed the German defenses along a 20-mile front and forced the enemy to retreat in haste from Cerami and Troina in the direction of Cusano.

The deepening thrusts of the allied spearheads poked into the Nazi-designed defenses changed the whole aspect of the battlefield and threatened the Germans with encirclement and annihilation on several sectors. One pocket in which a large number of Germans may be caught shaped up in the region around the town of Regalbuto, eastward to Adriano and thence north to Randazzo.

Undermining assaults along the north coast confronted the Germans with the necessity of abandoning the coastal region to straighten out their line or risk being caught in a trap there.

that what they know has happened to Hamburg may be doubled or trebled at Berlin with the matter of a few weeks or months.

The low-level bombing of the Rumanian Ploesti oilfields by 175 to 200 American Liberator planes, has demonstrated to the world that in a series of continuing attacks Herr Hitler can be utterly deprived of his entire source of oil. Or, as a matter of fact, any source of anything—any factory, any communications center. And any country can be deprived of its means of living.

Make 2400 Mile Trip

That Rumanian attack is said to have involved a round-trip distance of 2400 miles. United Nations airfields are growing ever closer to Central Europe. They are now on the island of Sicily. They will shortly be on the mainland boot of Italy. If they may not be long before they are located in Yugoslavia, Albania, and Greece. When this happens, how can anything in the Axis world in the west escape.

Emperor Hirohito and his Japanese war lords are well aware of the fact that before long their fighting units will be thrown out of Korea. They know that, with ever-arriving United Nations help, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his Chinese armies will shortly push the Japanese hordes out of China's coastal section.

REPORT DEMANDS FOR ABDICATION

Two persons were said to have been killed and many others wounded when police returned the fire.

The diplomatic writer of the London Daily Mail, replying to Axis reports yesterday of a purported peace proposal made to Italy by the Allies, declared that neither President Roosevelt nor anyone else had offered armistice terms to Italy.

Not until the Italian government asks for peace, the writer pointed out, will they be informed on all Allied conditions. These conditions, he added, continue to be an important subject of consultation among the United Nations.

An official statement came from Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that acceptance by the present Italian government of unconditional surrender terms would not mean the recognition of that government by the Allies. He said that the Allies were prepared to adopt a "reasonable attitude" if the Allies succeeded in getting from Italy what they want for attacking Germany.

the Axis bombers came from three long years to pour their loads of death and destruction upon Malta.

Gen. Eisenhower established his headquarters in an ancient palace on the southernmost tip of the island. After supervising last minute arrangements on the night of July 9, he went to sleep at 130 Saturday morning on a field cot in a small room adjoining the main GHQ office where huge maps and invasion charts were spread on tables and nailed upon the walls.

At 5 a. m. he was awakened by his aide, Commander Butcher, and told the initial landings had been an overwhelming success. Shortly before he retired, he had observed the wind "blowing like the devil," a decided handicap to the paratroopers and gliders used in the attack.

REVEAL 521 U. S. BOMBERS IN RAID AGAINST ROME

Ninth Air Force in the Middle East, commanded by Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, performed the "softening up" process on Sicilian military installations.

12,583 Offensive Sorties

During the four week period ending July 26, U. S. planes flew 12,583 offensive sorties, dropped 12,460 tons of bombs, destroyed 342 enemy planes and probably destroyed others, probably sank three enemy ships and damaged ten more, with a loss of 190 American aircraft.

Preparatory to the Rome raid, British Wellington bombers dropped 864,000 leaflets over the city, explaining the purpose of the attack.

The report also emphasized the vast air superiority of American aircraft over Rome, and the widespread damage wrought on Italian military objectives on the entire mainland. Concerning the Rome raid, it said:

"Only 20 to 30 enemy aircraft were encountered and these showed little desire for combat. Heavy bombers shot down two of them and Lightnings destroyed two more. One Liberator, one Mitchell and one Marauder were known to have been lost. The Liberator's crew was rescued. Two Flying Fortresses at first reported missing, subsequently returned safely. Anti-aircraft fire was neither intense nor accurate."

More than 21,000 people annually pass through the Bridge Terminal building in San Francisco.

Japs Worsted In Close Combat As Yanks Near Munda

Fighting On New Georgia Costs
Enemy Half A Force,
Many Pill Boxes

By JACK MAHON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WITH AMERICAN FORCES APPROACHING Munda, New Georgia, Aug. 3.—(Delayed)—Hard-fighting American soldiers pressing on towards the Japanese airfield at Munda, on New Georgia Island, have engaged in hand-to-hand combat with the enemy and annihilated half of a force of Japs pocketed deep in the jungles within the past 48 hours.

The Yankee southern flank drove more than 400 yards past the village of Terere, destroying numerous enemy pill boxes, and in the central area the Americans wiped out a dozen more as they encircled the enemy in a small grove.

On the northernmost line the Americans pushed forward steadily, but were finding Bibolo Hill strongly fortified, although we have occupied northeastern slopes.

In one fight two American officers were killed to death by Japs who crawled into their foxholes, and command of the company was taken over by Sergeant Fred Brock, of Homer, La.

In another action Sergeant Francis Casey, of Bristol, Conn., was credited with killing 17 Japs and making a record of 20 reconnaissance patrols.

From the men of another company I heard nothing but praise for Lieutenant James E. Chase, of Atlanta, Ga., for his sterling reconnaissance work and inspiring the men by his volunteering for dangerous missions throughout the heat of the fight.

FORMER GOVERNOR

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 4.—Former Gov. Martin S. "Mike" Connor held a 3-to-2 lead over his nearest opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi today, but apparently will have to face the runnerup in a second primary August 24.

As returns from yesterday's election were tabulated it appeared certain Connor will not obtain the majority of all votes cast, which is necessary for nomination on the August 24 ballot will be determined by a neck and neck race between Lt. Gov. Dennis Murphree and Thomas L. Bailey, veteran state legislator.

Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Rep. Doughton, (D) N. C. chairman of the committee has indicated that he would have to consult other members of his group before considering a postponement of the hearings, which will consider evidence on the treasury's proposal for a $16,000,000,000 annual increase in tax revenue.

PRESIDENTIAL PRELIMINARIES

HENRY WATTERSON, noted southern editor, once asserted that a year in politics is a generation. Present-day politicians, viewing the 1944 situation, are of the opinion that one year of presidential politics and international war may be equivalent to two generations.

That's why leaders of both parties are chary about predictions and commitments. Their vision admittedly lacks clarity. The twelve months until the national conventions and fifteen months until the election can bring wholly unforeseen changes—and probably will.

However, a fourth candidacy by Franklin D. Roosevelt seems to all politicians, Republicans and Democrats alike, a safe assumption. None feels he is getting out on a limb when he predicts that the president will make a bid for still another term. The question is not whether he will run but whether he can be elected.

Answers to the question are qualified invariably by the now familiar phrase, "if the war is still on". Consensus seems to be that with hostilities ended or with victory in sight, Mr. Roosevelt could not expect to win because of difficulties on the home front, but that he will have a good chance if the duration is still uncertain on election day.

This is because of a belief that he is stronger with the people as commander-in-chief than as president. Yet no one looks for a fourth-term renunciation even though an armistice comes before the nominations. In the event of peace at convention time, Mr. Roosevelt, it is believed, would seek to remain in the White House in order to have a hand in postwar settlements.

Convinced that they know whom they will have to beat, the Republicans are content to mark time and await developments. Their hope is that the candidatorial field will remain wide open until the convention actually meets, so that the nominee may measure up to final specifications. To keep the field open and thereby prevent, if possible, an early choice, the GOP is encouraging "favorite son" movements in state's having Republican leaders that are nationally known. Indications are that in the pre-convention campaign numerous delegations will be kept from Dewey, Bricker and Willkie, who, at this time, are regarded as the sole national aspirants.

Massachusetts is expected to declare for Governor Saltonstall, New Hampshire for Senator Bridges, Pennsylvania for Governor Martin, Illinois for Governor Green or Senator Brooks, Minnesota for former Governor Stassen, Iowa for Senator Wilson or Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider, California for Governor Warren, Oregon for Senator McNary, etc. Thus the convention would be permitted to exercise a free choice as the exigencies of the hour of selection might dictate.

Current belief is that neither Dewey, Bricker nor Willkie will make a sweep of the presidential preferential primaries, which will start in New Hampshire in March and run through eighteen states until the third week in May. These primaries, while likely to reveal a trend, are not calculated to designate a choice.

The most populous of the presidential primary states will do no more than express a preference for a favorite son. Thus the field for outsiders will be restricted. Should Dewey, Bricker or Willkie carry all the open territory, the showing would be impressive and might influence the convention, but a sweep by any of these does not appear to be in the cards.

For impatient Americans who feel they cannot wait until next year to find out whether the Republican tide which began last November is still running, there's Kentucky and there's New Jersey. Both these states will elect governors this fall to succeed Democrats. The Republicans count their chances as excellent in New Jersey and better than fair in Kentucky. In neither state do the Democrats attempt to conceal concern because of factionalism and home front discontent.

Capture of Kentucky by the Republicans would be highly significant. Traditionally, it is a Democratic state. It is the home state of the majority leader of the Senate, Alben W. Barkley. Republican success there would be further dramatic evidence of GOP resurgence in border states which last November brought Republican gains in Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Unfortunately, the OPA has done nothing about rationing hay fever.

Ten years ago Mussolini was a flaming Vesuvius. Now he is just one of the old-fashioned Fourth-of-July "flower pots".

Mussolini, who ran around with Hitler steadily for years, is the best argument against keeping bad company.

One of the "commentators" says that there will be no new automobiles until two years after the war, which is an effective reminder that none of the cars now in use are getting any younger.

One of our most pessimistic friends now believes the war is going to end soon, since Mussolini started the run to cover. To back up his belief he opened one of his boarded cans of tomatoes the other day.

The boy who brings home the bacon now is not the one who works hard and saves his money, but the guy who can get hold of some extra red coupons.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MOTHER'S SMILE A RARE TREASURE

Often in this column, I have pointed out the precious power of tenderness of tone and quietness of voice and manner in the mother. Such a voice with an off-smiling face and sympathetic attitude, are very powerful in bringing up a family well. What other human qualities can have their potency? They comfort and quiet the young child when out of sorts. They reassure the child of any age when he feels low and unworthy. They are the greatest media of affection.

From where I sit writing this, I see the smiling face of my mother in the photograph which always inspires me. A flood of happy memories arise in which I can, in my imagination, hear her voice and see her smiles as if she were alive. Up until her last few months of life, her tender voice and lovely smile were almost inseparable from her, though she had many years of only moderate health.

There were eight of us who lived beyond infancy, two more who died very young and some before birth. Hers was not an easy life.

Doctor Recalls Mother's Smiles
She must have frowned and raised her voice in anger at times yet I just don't recall such times. It's only her tender tones and lovely smiles that I remember.

I like to remember the times when she would drop whatever she was doing and take my baby sister on her lap and sing lullabies or hymns to her. I must have been about ten or twelve then.

I like also to recall seeing mother playing finger games with Baby Sister at two or three years of age—This little Piggy went to Market. I wish more modern mothers would employ finger plays. The best book available that presents these games is Let's Play with Fingers, by Mrs. Florence Sumner, published by McClurg, Chicago, Ill.

Father Was Disciplinarian
My mother almost never spanked us, and father rarely, though he was more stern and fond. Perhaps he felt the need to be a bit more strict with us, since Mother was inclined to be a bit over-indulgent. It was their way for him to take a stand on grave matters of control when we were eight or ten and in our teens. But I never remember mother's disagreeing with him over our discipline or his criticizing her. Instead, she served as a strong salesman of Father's devisions and standards and he always backed up hers.

I can recall several occasions when she in her gentle way won my older brothers and sisters to abide by some decision of Father's which they at the time considered severe and even threatened to defy. After Mother had a quiet session with them in Father's absence they resolved to conform. I do know that Mother sometimes interceded successfully on our behalf when we were not around. However, without the rather strict standards of our Father, Mother's smiles and tender tones, hardly would have been effective.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. How early may one begin chair-sitting punishment and how late may it be effective?
A. As soon as the youngster will stay where he is put without being held or tied. It may be effective up to the age of 12 or beyond.

Q. Is it desirable for a child before entering the first grade to be familiar with the letters of the alphabet?
A. Yes; if he learns to recognize these letters, probably to print a few, as a matter of play and not as a task.

Q. What is a good punishment for stubbornness?
A. Punishment rarely corrects stubbornness; more often than not it makes the child more stubborn. It generally comes in connection with what you want the child to do rather than with forbidding him to do something. In my special bulletin on stubbornness I show how to prevent stubbornness and win cooperation. It may be had without cost to you by writing me enclosing a three-cent stamp on a self-addressed envelope.

Q. Do you think there can be an ideal dinner hour with the radio on for the kind of program the child from five to fourteen usually wants?
A. No; either the conversation is very loud and irritating to the child or there is little or no conversation at all. For a family of growing children the ideal dinner hour is one with companionable conversation shared by all in an atmosphere of calmness, leisure and family fellowship.

PINCKNEY WORTLE, THE WORLD'S LAZIEST WHITE MAN

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:12. Sun rises tomorrow 6:01.

Maybe it's a good thing many of us do not understand the things that are going on. Some we do understand don't seem so good.

Of course we know it's rude to point but did ja ever see a pleasantly plump and jovially married woman who felt she just had to go to Reno to get her divorce?

It's too bad that the high winds we have had lately did not break off the limbs of trees that hang over the sidewalks.

THE LAW OF AVERAGES
The principle on which the great gambling casino at Monte Carlo is operated, and the principle governing all operations in which chance is a factor, is perfectly illustrated by the following tests:

Put 200 marbles or beans into a bowl, 100 of which are black and 100 white, and mix them thoroughly.

Place three drinking glasses by the bowl, and then blind-fold yourself and pick the marbles up two at a time, having some friend or member of the family place each pair in the different glasses. Have your assistant place in one glass all the white pairs you hand him while blindfolded, the blacks in the second glass, and the pairs of white and black in the third glass.

When the marbles are exhausted, remove the blindfold and count the marbles in the various glasses. You will be surprised to find that usually, there are 25 pairs of whites, 25 pairs of blacks, and 50 pairs of mixed.

You may be doubtful that an actual trial will reveal such perfect proportions, but here are the results of two experiments I made: The first drawing gave 23 pairs of blacks, 23 pairs of whites and 54 pairs of mixed.

The second drawing gave 25 pairs of blacks, 25 pairs of whites, and 50 pairs of mixed. (Note: This would also make a nice game for your next social gathering... something "different".)

History not only repeats itself, it elaborates the original output.

A lot of people are regretting now that they stopped being Republicans and are getting ready to make up for their mistake.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST
"Oh, mother," exclaimed the daughter ecstatically, "I met the best looking young officer at the dance and he told me I was the prettiest girl he had ever seen."

"No, my dear," cautioned mother wisely, "don't trust any man who starts to deceive you at the very first meeting."

A gossip is a person who talks to you about others. A bore is one who talks to you about himself. A brilliant conversationalist is one who talks to you about yourself.

Not all women look good in pants. For that matter, neither do all the men, notwithstanding long practice.

If you meet a man in mufti, or civvies, salute him. He's wearing the uniform of a taxpayer.

These warm days, the girls are fond of pretty clothes, but not necessarily wrapped up in them.

It is claimed that women are buying more clothing than men now. Is that something new?

WOMEN MUST BE LIKED BY WOMEN
Girls interested in being generally popular and "accepted" should bear in mind that they must not neglect their own sex. She who establishes a reputation as a "man's woman" has a hard row to hoe for women.

Jealousy of her, envy or distrust, the result is the same for their victim—Isolation.

To prove my point, let me relate a recent complaint that one woman made against another: "I don't trust Betty," said Mrs. J.

"Just notice her next time she is in a mixed gathering. You'll never see her having a tete a tete with another woman—never hear her voice among the feminine chatter in a room. But let the girls leave Betty alone with the men—and hear her open up with gay conversation. I reiterate, a woman who does not like her own sex is invariably secretive and untrustworthy."

To maintain a good and lasting social standing, it is important that a woman be as well liked and popular with women as she is with men.

Question: Who should cut the bride's cake at a wedding reception?
—Mary B.

Answer: The bride should cut the first piece of cake and divide it with the groom. After that, the bride's mother may cut and distribute the remainder, or the guests may be served by the waitress.

Question: When I telephone my husband at his office, should I announce myself as "Mrs. Smith" or say "his wife" when asked who it is?
—Alice.

Answer: Announce yourself as Mrs. Smith and, of course, ask for Mr. Smith, not Bill or John Smith.

"That's all very nice," yawned the president, "but would you mind telling me, Madam, why you called me at this hour of the night, about a hat you bought last week?"

"Because," she replied politely, "your truck has just delivered it."

Punishment May Not Be Given Axis Leaders
History Doesn't Agree With Present Ideas
Switzerland May Not Offer Refuge To Them

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Benito

Juarez Mussolini, ex-dictator of Italy, and his Fascist gang will be punished for their crimes against humanity, President Roosevelt has told the world. A United Nations Commission for Investigation of War Crimes has already been named and is expected soon to begin gathering the evidence against a long list of Axis war criminals, headed by Mussolini and Adolf Hitler. Action by the United Nations is expected to follow the Commission's findings.

Whether the arch-criminals of our time will actually be brought to trial is another matter. Now reports held in house-arrest after unsuccessfully trying to escape to Germany, Mussolini may try to take refuge in neutral Switzerland after Italy's surrender. Both Mussolini and Hitler have been reported to have cached personal funds in Switzerland, a traditional haven for political refugees, and a country which both dictators have left free throughout the war.

Switzerland may—or may not—alter her traditional policy to deprive the Axis leaders of sanctuary. In World War I, Kaiser Wilhelm—the most hated man of his time—succeeded in taking refuge in neutral Holland, and despite the pressure brought to bear on Queen Wilhelmina's government, Holland refused to surrender the former Kaiser to the Allies.

And the Allies made no bones about what they wanted the deposed German warlord for. Article 227 of the Peace Treaty of Versailles specifically provided:

"The Allied and Associated Governments arraign William II of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties. The Allies and Associated Powers will address a request to the Government of the Netherlands for the surrender to them of the Ex-Emperor in order that he may be put on trial."

The request was made but the Dutch government took no action. Meanwhile, the German Government opened its archives and poured out a collection of documents which throw doubt on Germany's and the Kaiser's war guilt. In the endless arguments pro and con, public clamor for the Kaiser's expulsion from Holland died down. Result: The Kaiser remained at Doorn, unpunished for his crimes, until his death in 1941.

Napoleon, another would-be conqueror of modern times, was not as fortunate as the Kaiser. In 1815, following his final defeat at Waterloo, Napoleon hoped to take refuge in the United States after he had abdicated the French throne in favor of his son, the King of Rome. He ordered two French frigates to be ready at Rochefort on July 3, 1815, to bring him to this country.

Unfortunately for Napoleon, British men-of-war were cruising back and forth outside the harbor. Refusing to risk capture as a common criminal, the little Corsican who had turned all Europe into one great battlefield for more than two decades, decided on a typically Napoleonic gesture. He demanded asylum from his greatest and most implacable enemy, England!

None of the United Nations leaders has stated specifically that Hitler and Mussolini will be jailed or executed. The purpose of the United Nations commission is to investigate charges against war criminals "regardless of rank." Furthermore, the Axis bigwigs may succeed in taking refuge in a neutral country, Switzerland, Sweden, Spain or Portugal.

The outlook for the Quislings, Laval and the thousands of other Axis collaborators in conquered and occupied Europe is very dark, however. Most of them do not have planes or high-powered cars to rush them to safety.

MacKenzie King Sees Early End To Sicily Action

Believes Resistance In Italy
Cannot Be Prolonged
Now

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—Canadian Prime Minister MacKenzie King predicted Tuesday that "the complete military conquest and occupation of Sicily is a matter of a comparatively short time."

Commenting on the war, King reviewed the military situation and added: "Regardless of the course adopted by the Italian government there are the best of reasons for believing that except in the north resistance in Italy cannot be prolonged."

In a nation-wide broadcast the prime minister pointed out that Russian successes, virtual destruction of Rumanian oil fields by American bombers "are bringing closer the final phase and occupation of Nazi Germany."

"It is possible that Italy will experience complete political and social collapse," King warned, adding that the situation the Italians now find themselves in is a warning "to any people who surrender their freedom to a dictatorship."

Regardless of the course of the Italians, and King emphasized that it is not known how much power Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio possesses, "it is certain that German armies will seize what they can of northern Italy, and fight there in defense of Germany."

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers
Are Outlined Here

First aid class, Herbert Rodgers, instructor, will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. at post 3-6, 309 Fern street. Members are asked to be on time because Harry J. Cullford, Red Cross chairman of first aid, will be present.

Monday evening wardens post 8-3 placed stirrup pumps in their sector. These pumps were filled with water and the card placed by the wardens at the time of their visitation. Has this been done in your post? Additional stirrup pumps and marker cards can be had by the different OCD groups if they have need of additional pumps in their sector.

Wardens OCD class will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at wardens post 6-2, Sampson street. This class started a week or so ago. If you have started this instruction and care to complete it, this is the opportunity. The post is in need of additional wardens in numerous parts of the city.

Auxiliary fire companies are now equipped to do most any job that an organized fire company may be called upon to perform. They have been issued a pump (either skid or trailer type), hose, ladder, pike pole, axe, shovel, nozzles, sumpse couplings, adapters, coupling wrenches, plug wrenches, buckets, first aid kits, electric lanterns; in fact, these auxiliary units have most everything for setting up and doing a complete job of fire fighting.

REGULAR MEETING

Fifth ward, second precinct air raid wardens, fire watchers and messengers will have their regular meeting Thursday, August 5, at 7:30 o'clock at the air raid post, Alderman Bassano's office, South Mill street.

Wave Ensign Gives Fine Talk At Lions Club Tuesday Noon

Members Receive New Insight Into Work Being Done By
Women's Volunteer
Service Group

New Castle Lions Club members heard a splendid talk on the Women's Volunteer Service group, more popularly known as the Waves, at their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday, when they were addressed by Ensign Wanda M. McLaughlin, of Pittsburgh.

She explained that when the group was first organized a year ago, they were recruited for work as yomen, stenographers and radio communications work. Originally they wanted but 10,000 of them.

Today, the demands have been jumped to 90,000 women for this branch of the service, and they are serving as Link Trainer instructors, weather charters, parachute riggers, grease monkeys in the aviation section, do animated cartoon work for Navy movies, and many other tasks in addition to the original fields.

Ensign McLaughlin made a big hit with the Lions. She has a splendid personality and is a convincing speaker.

Lion Don Wilson was presented with the Lion key, for securing two new members during the past year making him a key member.

It was announced that the annual corn roast will take place at Ramblers Rest on August 18.

Pattern Of Bomb Attacks Against Japan Developing

Huge Bombers Coming Which Will Carry Attack To
Japan's Main Bases

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Developments in the Aleutians today fitted into the pattern of America's offensive against Japan which carries the promise of intensified bombing attacks on enemy islands north of Tokyo.

There already has been one reported air assault against the vital Jap naval base at Paramushira in the Kurils, 1,300 miles north of Tokyo, and undoubtedly others will follow once the Japs on Kiska are crushed.

However, the full force of America's growing air force in the north Pacific cannot be unleashed westward until the Jap garrison on Kiska is wiped out. A knockout blow against this last Jap stronghold in the Aleutians has been expected for weeks.

The real value of American bases in the western Aleutians will be felt, however, until the United States puts really long-range bombers into the skies in that area.

Several months ago Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces asserted that the flying fortresses and the Liberator were the "last of the small bombers" hinting strongly that America soon would have giant planes.

Although present bombers do not have the range to hit Tokyo from the Aleutians, they already have demonstrated that they could hit most of the important enemy bases in the Kurils, which stretch north of the main Japanese islands almost to Siberia.

You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clock-work — if they would only quit worrying — stop being nervous — take more exercise — watch their diet — and get up mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all this?

So — the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can — and that's where good old Ex-Lax comes in. Why?

Because you may take Ex-Lax at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around — because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed-out.

AND because they help give the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirits soar — and what sour, constipated person could ask for more? Get Ex-Lax at your druggist today and take as directed. It's

British Pick Off German 'Shadows' Above North Sea

Correspondent Aboard Battleship Watches Disposal
Of Enemy Scout
Planes

By JOHN E. LEE

(T. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD A BRITISH BATTLE-

SHIP AT SEA, July 28—(Delayed)

—Four Nazi Blohm-and-Voss reconnaissance planes were shot down in the North Sea today as the British home fleet demonstrated its domination of these waters. Two other German planes were reportedly damaged.

It's no secret that the navy air

arm or the Royal Air Force has shot down or winged every enemy "shadow" aircraft that has approached

British warships.

I watched the latest developments

from the bridge of a British battleship flying the flag of Vice-Admiral

Sir Henry Moore, second in command of the home fleet.

For the greater part of the day

we were at first-degree, double-A readiness with the entire crew at action stations. Just before noon

we received a report that coastal command Beaufighters had downed two Blohm-and-Voss planes which had been shadowing a British cruiser

many miles away.

Subs Reported

About the same time we got reports regarding German submarines and our lookouts were warned to be especially alert.

Midday brought "action messing"

—which meant a standup lunch of soup, roast-beef sandwiches and apples.

Later in the afternoon another enemy plane was reported shadowing the cruiser. An aircraft carrier accompanying us sent out two Mart-lets to assist the cruiser and made a signal informing the cruiser that fighters were en route.

Nineteen minutes after leaving the carrier, the two Martlets sighted the cruiser and its "shadow." A couple of minutes later, one of the

Martlet pilots, Sub-Lieutenant Hugh

Churchill, tall young New Zealand-

er, yelled into his microphone:

"Whoopie! Got the so-and-so!"

That made it three down when the Martlets returned to the carrier and we could see through our binoculars the victorious pilot receiving a jubilant greeting as he stepped out of his plane.

Junkers-88 Mirage

Later, while the carrier was changing its normal fighter cover

things "hotted up" a bit. Two RAF

Beaufighters suddenly appeared also what our fire directors identified as a Junkers-88. The subsequent consensus was that this "Junkers-

88" was a mirage due to wishful thinking. Anyhow, we opened fire with our 5.25-inch guns as did another warship close astern.

Anti-aircraft bursts filled the sky

but no plane was hit. If any Junkers-88 was around, it did an extraordinarily competent vanishing act.

Soon afterwards Martlets far to the south sighted still another

Steiner Candidate For Mayor Of City

Announces Candidacy For Nomination At Republican
Primary In September

JAMES P. STEINER

TO THE VOTERS OF NEW

CASTLE:

I am taking this opportunity of publicly announcing my candidacy

for the office of Mayor.

I realize voters will be guided more by their own investigation of a candidate's fitness for the office than what the candidate writes in recommendation of himself. I am a life long resident of New Castle, and my people are from one of the pioneer families of this city. I attended the public schools and graduated from the Commercial Dept. of the

New Castle High School in the year of 1915. At the age of 20, during the last world war I enlisted in the U. S. Merchant Marines. I entered the service in 1917 and was honorably discharged at the close of the war in 1918. Prior to my enlistment

I was learning the Machinist's trade and after being mustered out of service, I finished my trade. When I was furloughed as a machinist, I secured employment on the Pennsylvanian Railroad. When forces on the railroad were reduced, I took the examination for a Police Officer when Fred L. Rentz was Mayor, and passed my examination and have served on the Police Force in various capacities since that time.

In asking your support, I feel obligated to state what policies I propose to follow if elected. As a property owner I believe in an economical and efficient administration.

I do not believe however in "Being penny wise and pound foolish." I think in the health dept. three other

Sanitary Officers should be added.

In saying this, I reflect in no way

on the commendable work now being done.

If elected Mayor, I would naturally be interested in the department which I have served for over 20 years. To the best of my ability,

I would give the Citizens of New

Castle an efficient and courteous

police force. I would favor building a new city jail. I am in favor of better recreational centers and playgrounds for children. If elected,

I promise the people of New Castle better bus service. In some sections of our City the service is intolerable, and I believe should be improved.

If elected Mayor I promise the Citizens of New Castle no more relative or friend of mine will be relative or friend of mine will be relative or friend of mine will be relative or friend of mine will be re-

Blossom-End Rot In Tomatoes Due To Hot Weather

Condition Not A Disease; Can Be Remedied By Constant
Watering

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 4—Weather conditions are largely to blame for blossom-end rot in tomatoes and it is not a plant disease in itself, K. W. Lauer, Division of Plant Pathology, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, said today.

The rot appears at what is known as the blossom end of the fruit, opposite to the stemmed or that part of the tomato where it is attached to the plant. It is not unusual for this type of rot to appear at this time of the growing season.

The blossom-end rot of tomatoes usually appears during the periods of dry, hot weather and is especially serious if such periods follow weather conditions that were favorable to plant growth during the early part of the growing season. The rot appears when the fruit on such plants would normally start to ripen. Loss of water through the leaves is so great during such periods that sufficient quantities cannot be supplied through the root system. In order to meet this loss the plant will develop its own supply by drawing on the water that was previously stored in the fruits when they were developed.

To overcome blossom-end rot a constant supply of moisture should be made available to the plant at the first signs of dry weather. The affected fruits should be removed from the plants. Where only a limited number of tomato plants are being grown the soil moisture can be held to some extent by spreading lawn clippings around and between the tomato plants.

Predicts Lewis To Abandon Organizing Of Dairy Farmers

Head Of National Farmers
Union Points Out Strong
Indications

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, predicted Tuesday that United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis will abandon his attempts to organize the nation's dairy farmers.

According to Patton, Lewis has spent "well over $1,800,000 of the miners' money on District 50," which embraces the United Dairy Farmers Union, and "has very little to show for it except cancelled meal tickets of dozens of organizers."

Patton's views were substantiated in effect by Lewis' pending application for UMW reinstatement in the American Federation of Labor, inasmuch as the AFL has announced it will not attempt to organize farmers.

Such being the case, it was pointed out, should the Lewis application be accepted by AFL, the United Dairy Farmers Union will fall by the wayside.

Pointing out that Ralph Marlatt, secretary and "sparkplug" of the United Dairy Farmers Union, has resigned, Patton also said that Kathryn Lewis, the UMW chief's daughter and a leader in organizing the dairy farmers, is on leave of absence.

Ora Gassaway, a Lewis lieutenant in the dairy union, Patton said, has been dismissed for "not delivering according to Lewis' plans."

GACs To Recruit Members At High School Thursday

Change In Squad Leader Membership Announced, Effective In Fall

Recruitment of new members of the Girls Athletic club will take place on Thursday, between 2 and 4 and 7 and 8:30 p. m., at the senior high school, Lincoln avenue, it is announced today. Girls wishing to become candidates for the GAC New Castle's famous drill corps for girls, will be interviewed by GAC officers to determine their qualifications for membership.

Miss Margaret Fischer, director of the GAC, has also announced that when high school opens in the fall, there will be a separate club for squad leaders of physical education classes in both the high school and both junior highs. Hereafter, all squad leaders became members of the GAC automatically, upon entering high school. Under the new arrangement, all leaders may belong to the Squad Leaders club, but only those meeting GAC qualifications will be admitted to the Girls Athletic club.

There will be no connection between the military group, or GAC, and the athletic group, or Squad Leaders club.

Board Hears Lewis Present Miners Case For More Pay

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—A labor member of the War Labor Board today intimated that the board's attitude has grown "more lenient" toward John L. Lewis and his 450,000 United Mine Workers after they presented their case for underground travel time pay to the WLB.

The WLB member said he believed that the legal argument presented by the miners was such that the board would have to give further consideration to the vital "portal to portal" pay issue.

Throughout the hearing on the agreement between the miners and the Illinois operators, both William H. Davis and Frank Graham, public members of the board, led labor and industry members to believe that the arguments offered by Lewis and his colleagues were sound and steadfast, the labor representative said. Speaking for himself he said that there was every reason why the board should approve the miners' demands and grant the $1.25 per day allowance.

The board took up the case today, but a decision is not anticipated for at least a week or two.

Axis U-Boat Attack On Valuable Convoy Stopped By British

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 4—A force of Axis U-boats, numbering between 25 and 30 raiders concentrated in the North Atlantic shipping lanes, was so badly battered by British warships and planes that it was unable to launch a single attack against a valuable convoy, the admiralty announced Tuesday.

The east-bound convoy was described as of exceptional value and "large" size, and in preparation for an assault upon it, Axis commanders had built up their U-boat force for several weeks, the admiralty announcement declared.

Letter From Death Plunge Victim To Officer Disclosed

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—A letter written by the late Janet Snowden Gill to an unnamed army lieutenant promised further developments Tuesday in the mysterious death plunge of Mrs. Gill on June 1.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet refused to divulge the name of the soldier but revealed it was signed with the inscription: "All my love forever and ever, Jan."

According to authorities, relatives of former oil heiress said they knew of Janet's friendship with the young lieutenant.

The autopsy was requested by members of Mrs. Gill's family who were disturbed by several things including the fact that her body was unclothed when found below her 16th floor suite.

The letter was discovered when it was returned undelivered to the family, Grumet said.

DRIED VEGETABLES

The doctors are doing a lot of experiments on cooking. They want to find out how to save all the vitamins in the dried vegetables.

Cabbage is rich in vitamins but they are easily lost in cooking.

They have found out that these are good rules for cabbage.

Do not soak or refresh dried cabbage. Put it into boiling water and boil gently till done. Use the smallest amount of water possible.

Try it on Dad. If he likes it, it must be good.

Dehydrated beets, potatoes and rutabagas may be soaked or refreshed. They may be started in either cold or boiling water.

Use the smallest possible amount of cooking water and do not throw it away.

Be sure that Dad gets plenty of spuds.

LONDON—In Germany, shoes may be repaired only once a year.

The present-day typewriter keyboard has been standard since the invention of the machine. The generally-accepted theory as to the arrangement of the letters is that the first typewriters the type bars would collide and stick fast when certain keys were touched in succession, and therefore the inventors grouped the keys and bars so as to eliminate this trouble as much as possible. The system was perpetuated because of the inconvenience incident to making a change.

OPA Denies Report Of "Extra Points" For Nelson Dinner

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—A report in "Iron Age," industrial magazine, that the Pittsburgh District O.P.A. "couched up" 11,000 meat ration points to provide a sumptuous filet mignon steak repast in honor of W.P.B. Chairman Donald Nelson here last July 2 was vehemently denied today by District O.P.A. Director Alvin J. Williams.

In branding the steel trade magazine's assertions false, Williams declared strongly that Donald Nelson, or any other high official, can receive no additional ration allotments from his office than would be granted an ordinary citizen.

"Iron Age," in a recent issue, alleged that "W.P.B. management and labor dined some 900 strong at Pittsburgh's William Penn hotel on filet mignon," and claimed "the 11,000 points involved would have wrecked the hotel, so the O.P.A. couched up."

Williams countered by saying "we were solicited by the United States Steel corporation, host for the evening, to grant about 8,000 points for this particular dinner, but we definitely refused to make the grant on the basis that what we wouldn't do for one we wouldn't do for all."

The dinner in question highlighted a two-day inspection tour of "Victory Valley"—the vast rows of steel mills dotting the Pittsburgh district—by Nelson and several of his War Production board aides who came here to spur output.

Synthetic Gas May Be Needed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—American hope of vast post-war air development hinges on production of synthetic gasoline from coal and shale. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D) of Wyo., said today as a senate committee resumed hearings on artificial motor fuels.

"Testimony so far indicates that Germany, England and Japan are far ahead of us in production of synthetic motor fuels," O'Mahoney said.

"If this country is to hold its position of world air trade routes and in other motor fields, it must have much more fuel than the present 15 to 20 year supply of known crude oil reserves."

O'Mahoney is chairman of the senate public lands committee, now in its second day of exhaustive testimony by 22 witnesses representing the armed forces, bureau of mines, labor, business, states, universities and industry.

THIS SUIT

will fit ONLY ONE of these five men...

If all the clothing manufactured was one model and one size, just imagine what that would mean! The suit might fit your neighbor across the street, but it wouldn't do for you at all! It might be too big for Bill, and too tight for Jim! Clothing isn't designed that way! It's made in different sizes and models... tall and shorts, stouts, slims, mediums and regulars... a style and size to fit every man.

Our Convenient Payment Plan is like that. It's tailor-made! You see, if we had the same terms for everyone, it wouldn't work out. The arrangements might be satisfactory for Mr. and Mrs. Jones, but Mr. and Mrs. Smith wouldn't like it. So, we talk things over together... you and our credit manager. You tell him just how you'd like to arrange your payments, and he works it out to suit you.

It's your convenience that counts with us! We want to serve you! To help you! That's the reason our Convenient Payment Plan is the most popular, most widely-used plan of all!

STUDENTS HELPING NEW YORK FARMERS

(International News Service)
ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 4.—About 3,000 New York City and Westchester county high school boys and girls, enlisted in the Farm Cadet Victory program, were placed in jobs on New York State farms, and more are available, the State College of Agriculture reported today.

Only a few of them have been turned back by farmers, said Dean

Carl E. Ladd, which he said, shows that inexperienced boys still make good workers with proper training. Six hundred have been conditioned and assigned to farms from six agricultural schools; 600 more have been sent direct from their homes to farms, and 1,800 more, located in 16 camps throughout the agricultural areas of the state, go out daily from the camps to work on farms.

TREASURY STANDS AGAINST SALES TAX

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Sharp clashes between the administration and congress over new tax legislation were seen today as the treasury was disclosed to be studying an individual excess profits tax and taking a firm stand against enactment of sales taxes.

Chairman Robert Doughton (D) N. C., of the house ways and means committee, also disclosed after a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau that $16,000,000 additional taxes should be levied.

See Battle

The possibility of a legislative battle over taxes was emphasized when Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., ranking Republican on the senate finance committee, challenged the president to propose a concrete tax program.

Declaring that plans must be made to convert war industry to peace-time industry in order to provide employment and warning against tax legislation jeopardizing the national economy, Vandenberg called for a luxury sales tax.

After conferring with Morgenthau, Doughton said he agreed that heavy increases in taxes should be voted both to provide money to run the government and to curb inflation.

"The burden of any tax or anti-inflation proposal should be as equitably distributed as possible, not only between upper and lower income groups but by recognizing that in any income groups there may be people who need to be protected against the full impact of tax increases," said Doughton.

SURVIVED 76 DAYS ADRIFT AT SEA

SOLE SURVIVOR of 20 British seamen adrift 76 days after their tanker was torpedoed in the Atlantic, William Colbon cried, "Don't waste fresh water," when he saw water running needlessly from a New York hospital where he was convalescing. To quiet him a nurse made him a rag doll custodian to watch the water supply. Colbon saw his 19 companions die one by one for lack of water, and when picked up on the 76th day by an American boat, there were seven dead bodies in the lifeboat with him.

West Pittsburg Sends Nine More Boys Away

Dinner Held Tuesday Evening
Honors Latest Group To Go To Camp

Nine more young men of West Pittsburg are leaving for the armed forces and following the custom of the citizens there, a testimonial dinner was held Tuesday night, August 3 in the Armando Diaz Club, with about 125 present.

The women of West Pittsburg had charge of the fish dinner which was served and following the dinner, Squire James Vessella took charge as chairman. He spoke briefly and then introduced Squire Anthony Isabella as the Master of Ceremonies of the evening.

Sergeant Fred W. Welker of the United States Marines was the principal speaker. He has just returned from a tour of duty in South Africa and his description of the country and the conditions under which service men complete their missions was most interesting. Speaking to the men leaving for service he gave them some advice upon what to expect and prophesied that all of them would be a credit to their nation and their community.

Other speakers were Bart Richards, Anthony Germaine and Arthur Hainesworth. Concluding the program Andrew Braykovich presented each of the men with a service kit, the gift of the townspeople. The men honored were Jack Butera, William Kessler, Al De Monaco, Milton Rice, John Aidan, Thomas Freed, John Passalunquin, John Tussie and John Hewatine.

Killed 47 Japs On Guadalcanal

(International News Service)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—I had a 20-shot automatic rifle, so I picked them off fast," commented a 19-year-old Chattanooga Marine, home to visit his mother, when questioned about killing 47 Japs on Guadalcanal.

Of the six months Pfc. Murrell Davis was stationed in the Solomon Islands, he spent 38 consecutive days on the front lines.

"Sometimes I shot all 20 cartridges at the same Jap, but I got a bunch of them," he said.

Shell-shocked twice and 10 times victim of malaria, the young Marine related many of his experiences.

They Kill A Big Hog
"Four of us were stationed in some sage grass to look out for Jap patrols. Three of us had rifles and bayonets and the other had a tommy gun. Suddenly we heard a swishing sound coming at us full speed through the grass.

"The kid with the tommy gun let go with everything he had. The swishing kept coming.

"One of the other fellows jumped out of the grass with his bayonet and started charging. We heard his slash with his bayonet about five times. The swishing kept on.

A Clever Jap Sniper
"About that time the other boy and I jumped up with our bayonets and pinned the intruder to the ground.

"It was one of the biggest hogs I have ever seen," he said.

Davis told of camping for three nights under a Jap sniper who remained undiscovered because he fired when machine guns were shooting.

The Japs had good equipment and were good fighters but they can't equal American Marines, Davis declared. He told of finding Jap snipers weighing only 50 pounds, although most of the enemy soldiers are built to their height, which isn't very great.

Huntingdon Not To Be Army Prison

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The federal government was forced to turn elsewhere today for an institution to house army prisoners after Gov. Edward Martin turned down a proposal to "buy or lease" the Pennsylvania industrial school for boys at Huntingdon.

"The federal government wanted to lease or buy one of our penal institutions," the governor said, "and they picked Huntingdon but with this increase in crime we were afraid we couldn't do it."

"We told them that we wouldn't have enough room for our own prisoners," the governor explained.

Confusion Over Air Raid Signals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The state defense council today urged local councils to synchronize air raid warning signals in all parts of the community to avoid confusion.

Pointing out that confusion was a "major complaint" following the statewide practice blackout last week, the council recommended that local defense officials survey the length of time needed for each signal operator to sound the alarm after being contacted by telephone.

LT. COL. WATT IS GIVEN TRIBUTE

Posthumous Award Of Distinguished Flying Cross
Given Crafton Flier

(International News Service)

HEADQUARTERS, Alaska Defense Command, Aug. 4.—(Delayed)—Posthumous award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Lt. Col. James Richard Watt, of Crafton, Pa., who led a flight of fighter planes against a superior number of Jap planes over Attu, was announced today by Lt. Gen. Simon B. Buckner, Jr., commanding general, Alaska defense command.

Col. Watt, according to the citation, "led his formation against a numerically superior force of enemy planes.

"In spite of unfavorable weather conditions and the enemy's superior force, he immediately attacked, forcing the enemy planes to jettison their bombs and turn back before reaching their target. He pressed the attack with aggressiveness and total disregard of his personal safety. He was the last to break off pursuit of the enemy and did so only after he had been hit.

"The aggressive and intelligent leadership of Col. Watt was without doubt the main factor in the success of the mission."

The action occurred last May 23, when Jap bombers, presumably based at recently-bombed Paramushiro, attempted to bomb American troops engaged in driving the Japs off Attu.

Col. Watt simultaneously was awarded the air medal by Maj. Gen. William O. Butler of the 11th Air Force for leading a highly successful deck level attack on Jap shipping off Kiska last April 9. Col. Watt personally bombed one of the ships and then strafed gun positions.

Col. Watt's widow lives at 68 Thomas street, in Crafton.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, attending ceremonies marking the first anniversary of the WAVES:

"You are rendering a great service and everywhere I hear the most encouraging and flattering reports of the work you are doing."

WASHINGTON—Paul V. McNutt:

"We have reached the point at which we cannot supply the men needed by the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard and keep war production adequately manned except by removing the bars to the induction of fathers."

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Elmer Davis, OWI director:

"From England will come one day that great invasion which will prove that fortress Europe is no more invulnerable than fortress Sicily."

WASHINGTON—Senator Byrd (D) Va., predicting further income taxes will liquidate the American middle class:

"I think it is entirely inconsistent for the treasury to propose its enormous tax increase plan without including a sales tax. If the treasury is willing to cooperate with the two committees of congress and incorporate a sales tax, we can raise the needed money."

"The Biggest Little Market in Town"

New Battery B Memorial At Gettysburg

Lawrence county's memorial to Battery "B" of the First Pennsylvania Light Artillery is shown in the above picture. It has been placed on Reynolds avenue near Reynolds Woods, on the Gettysburg battlefield, where Battery "B" distinguished itself in 1863. The battery was commanded by Captain James H. Cooper. The monument is the first one authorized in the cemetery since the dedication of the Eternal Peace Memorial in 1938 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Replaces Wooden Marker

For many years the spot where Battery "B" fought was marked by a wooden marker, inadequate and not a thing of beauty. Several years ago State Highway Superintendent Edwin O. Reed decided a suitable monument should be erected, and he interested a number of Lawrence county people in the idea. The committee chairman aiding him will be found below. Today Mr. Reed expressed the appreciation of the committee for the aid of the various civic and military organizations and also to every person who in any way helped make it possible for the monument to be placed.

Battery "B" was in the Civil War early and stayed until it was over. The battery was organized in April, 1861, fought at Mechanicsville, Fredericksburg, Pritchett's Crossing, but its work at Gettysburg was the high spot of the battery's career.

For generations to come the monument to Battery "B" at Gettysburg will be a mecca for Lawrence county citizens who remember with pride and patriotism the heroism of their Lawrence county boys in the Civil War.

Order For Wooden Planes Cancelled By War Department

By EARLE MARCHES (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The War Department announced Tuesday that it is cancelling contracts for the manufacture of C-76 wooden cargo airplanes—including those held by the Higgins Company at New Orleans—because of increased aluminum production and shortages of special kinds of wood.

Experimental tests have revealed that wooden planes would be "more expensive and less efficient" than metal aircraft, the department added.

Production facilities at the Curtiss-Wright Co., plant, Louisville, Ky., and at the Higgins plant will be used to manufacture other aircraft or parts, the announcement stated.

EXPLOSION CAUSE OF CLEVELAND FIRE KILLING 8 WORKERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4—A dust explosion set by a spark of static electricity was cited today by the Chemical Warfare Service Division at Pittsburgh as the probable cause of the fire which killed eight employees of the Ferro Enamele corporation at Cleveland on Monday.

The army spokesman issued the following statement as a result of the formal investigation:

"The most probable cause of the fire is a dust explosion set off by a spark of static electricity. The department in which the explosion occurred was devoted to the mixing of materials for smoke screen production."

TROLLEY PASSENGERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Nation Has Great Possibilities For Reserve Gasoline

By ELLIOTT HAYES (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—W. E. Wrather, director of the U. S. Geological survey, said today that this country has more gasoline reserves in coal, shale, and gas deposits than any other nation in the world.

"The end of our petroleum resources is in sight, but science holds the key to development of fuels from vast coal, shale and gas deposits of the southwest and west," Wrather asserted at a hearing before a Senate Public Lands committee.

"We probably have more oil locked up in shale than we have produced so far," Wrather continued. "We do not yet know whether it can all be recovered. That is the reason why Congress should enact a law to have the government carry on scientific experimentation."

"From what is known now, this country is in the most favorable position of any in the world now in respect to its reserves of fuel. I do not foresee any shortage of gasoline. However, unless there are some new developments, gasoline in the future will be more expensive. I do not expect that it will ever be as cheap as gasoline made from petroleum."

REPORT HITLER HAS SYMPTOMS

Hitler often appears "apathetic and distressed," the report said, and discussions in Germany about his eventual successor already have begun.

W. L. B. Assumes Jurisdiction In Petrillo's Case

Three Man Panel Is Named To Hold Hearings In Musicians Controversy

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The war labor board today assumed jurisdiction in the dispute between the American Federation of Musicians, headed by James C. Petrillo, and seven electrical transcription manufacturing companies and appointed a three-man panel to hold hearings in the case.

At the same time, the board denied a request of the companies that the AFM be ordered to "terminate its strike" pending final determination of the case.

On June 25, 1942, Petrillo ordered his musicians to stop making recordings, transcriptions or any other form of mechanical reproduction of music.

Chairman of the panel appointed by WLB is Arthur Meyer, head of the New York State mediation board and vice-chairman of the regional war labor board. Other members are Henry S. Woodbridge of the American Optical Company, representing industry, and Max Zaritsky, president of the United Hatter, Cap and Millinery Workers (AFL), representing labor.

This particular case involves only the making of large-size broadcasting disks and not the standard-sized records for home and jukebox use, although Petrillo ordered his musicians to stop making all types of recordings.

The board's order followed a hearing on July 9 to determine whether the WLB should take jurisdiction in the controversy. At that time, the transcription concerns contended that the Petrillo dispute had resulted in "an interruption of work and an interference with the effective prosecution of the war," and demanded that the board take jurisdiction.

Arthur Cantle, 27, was killed last night when an automobile crashed into an iron pole in Schenley Park. Three other persons were injured. Cantle suffered a broken neck.

Two children died last night, and a third was injured critically.

On February 19, 1941, a pillory cage and ducking stool were ordered built in New York City.

Victim Of Cocoanut Grove Fire Is Big Help In War Effort

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Aug. 4.—A farm boy, turned coastguardman, who has never seen action on a fighting front was credited today with having contributed a major share to the war effort.

He is Clifford A. Johnson, 22, of Sumner, Mo., who received third degree burns in the Cocoanut Grove night club fire last November and is still in a Boston hospital.

"We have learned more from him about the treatment of burns than has ever been learned from any other single patient. Five manuscripts have already been accepted by medical publications and there are six others in various stages of preparation," Dr. Charles C. Lund revealed.

"The records of the case are being forwarded to Washington to be turned over to medical men on the far flung fighting fronts for their study in treatment of burns to army, navy, marine and coastguard personnel."

When he was brought to the hospital by fellow coastguardsmen from the fire which took 492 lives, doctors shook their heads doubtfully. But today he is on the road to recovery.

The first reference and use of Anno Domini is believed to have been made by Reginald, king of the Isle of Man, in 1219, in a document rendering allegiance to the Pope.

The "Grand Canyon" of Pennsylvania is Pine Creek Gorge, near Wellsboro.

Taylor Assails President's Plan

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—President Roosevelt's post-war pledges to soldiers' smacks of "false paternalism" and Democrats have bargained security for votes, Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor charged today.

"Pennsylvania Republicans had established an economic stabilization plan for the returning men of our armed forces long before the president—as part of the fourth term build-up—thought of discussing it," Taylor declared. "One might even say that the president's promise of post-war aid to service men was a direct steal from the Republican program to underwrite the economic status of our fighting men."

He stated that Pennsylvania's participation in the war effort was an "inspiration to the nation" and pointed to record-shattering production, civilian defense organizations, bond sales, salvage drives, the selective service system "and its trail-blazing success in setting up legislative machinery to preserve the economic status of the military."

Elinore M. Herriek, director of personnel and labor relations in a great shipbuilding organization, says that women shipyard workers receive the same pay as men engaged in similar work. The work is hard—48 hours a week is common, and in some states women are working 50 hours a week. Turnover among women workers is very low, once the women get past the training period.

Have a "Coke"—Come, be blessed and be happy

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

... or how to break the ice in Iceland

"Come, be blessed and be happy", says the hospitable Iclander when he meets a stranger. That's a warm way of putting it, but no more friendly than the way American soldiers say it. Have a "Coke", says the Doughboy, and it works in Reykjavic as it does in Rochester. The pause that refreshes is the friendly way to say "Hi, pal" in any language. All over the globe Coca-Cola has become the gracious ice-breaker between kindly-minded strangers.

Four Run Uprising In 7th Nets City Loop Leaders 10-7 Victory

Striking across the plate four times in the last inning, the Moose outdistanced the Shenandoah Pottery nine, 10-7, in an exciting City Baseball league second half clash played on Lee avenue field Tuesday night.

The Potters found Rodenbaugh's offing nice to look at and baited across four runs in two frames. The Moose tied-off on Johnston and deadlocked the count in the third and went ahead 6-4 as the last of the fourth started. Three markers in the bottom half of the chukker again gave the Potters the short-lived advantage.

Orlando Homers

Orlando romped off the diamond with hitting honors, clubbing a home, Coulter, Ferrente and Pitcher Campbell, who relieved Rodenbaugh, each rifled two hits. Soho led the losers' attack with a double and single.

Laitinen, who replaced Johnston, was the losing twirler.

By winning, the Moose hoisted its loop lead to a game and a half over the Elders.

PANTHERS PLAY WEST VIRGINIA ELEVEN OCT. 9

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—University of Pittsburgh's Golden Panthers today added a sixth grid opponent to their 1943 schedule when West Virginia agreed to resume football relations after a lapse of five years.

Athletic Director Jim Hagan said the Mountaineers will be met at Pitt stadium on October 9, the first clash between the two neighboring rivals since the Panthers won 20-0 in 1938.

Two more open dates remain to be filled on the Pitt schedule. Other schools to be played this year are Notre Dame, Illinois, Carnegie Tech, Nebraska and Penn State.

Seeded Players Win In Kalamazoo Tennis

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 4.—Seeded players who sailed through their second round matches with ease today resumed their title quest in the National Junior and Boys' tennis championships.

Five matches remained unfinished in the second round after yesterday's abbreviated session. Three of these were in the junior division and two in the boys' division.

Brink Moves Up

Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., seeded No. 2, moved into the third round without much opposition, defeating David Brown of Toledo, O., 6-1, 6-1, in the junior division. Brink still remained the chief threat to the singles crown held by Bob Falkenberg of Hollywood, Cal., seeded No. 1.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Big Bill Lee, veteran bespectacled right-hander, today was the latest addition to the Phillies' pitching staff.

In announcing Lee's purchase from the Chicago Cubs for an undisclosed price, President Bill Cox, of the Quakers, disclosed that the Cubs had claimed Catcher Mickey Livingston for the waiver price.

Meanwhile Second Baseman Danny Murtaugh took his final physical examination and was accepted for the army. He will spend three more weeks with the Phillies before reporting to Camp Meade, August 24.

Appalachian Loop Plans '44 Baseball

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 4.—The little four-class D Appalachian League, always finding a way to rise to the occasion, is the first league in the minors to definitely announce it is ready to go with baseball next year.

League directors, in a recent meeting, not only assured the current race, but authorized President J. Ross Edgemon to proclaim aloud that the circuit would answer roll call when the 1944 season opened.

Wars and depressions may generate ups and downs for baseball, but there are stout-hearted men in its ranks, such as the Appalachian directors, and they cannot be downed by the proclamations and cannon of the Axis.

Louise Brough Cops In Tennis

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 4.—Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, today had won her first and second round matches in the Delaware State Women's grass court tennis championships at Wilmington country club.

Miss Brough, seeded No. 1, won from Mrs. John P. Baker, of Philadelphia, by default, and then defeated Connie Clifton, Miami, 6-2, 6-0.

Margaret Osborne, San Francisco; Helen Bernhard, Cornell University; and Doris Hart, Miami, also took first round matches.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Fritz Ziv, former welterweight champion, isn't doing so bad by himself since being shorn of the crown. During his six appearances since February 5, opponents and he have magnetized $246,255 from fans who pay the freight. Two of the fights were not so "big" as pugilistic attractions go, and the gates proved it, but the other four fights were "pay-offs." Incidentally, Pittsburgh fans demonstrated that when a real card was presented they'd flock through the turnstiles. Possibly Pittsburgh's drawing power, like that of Cleveland, has promoter Mike Jacobs in a latter because there was one time when "it wasn't worth seeing if it wasn't in New York." Here's the record of Ziv's "gates": vs. Beau Jack, New York, $71,346; vs. Mayon Padlo, Pittsburgh, $8,600; vs. Beau Jack, New York, $70,291; vs. John Rosina, Milwaukee, $5,000; vs. Jake La Motta, Pittsburgh, $44,680, and a second vs. Jake La Motta fight, Pittsburgh, $46,338. Seventy-four thousand, six hundred and ninety five fans have seen Ziv so far this year and many more will see him against Young Kid McCoy of Detroit, at Pittsburgh, August 9, and also against Lightweight Champion Bob Montgomery in an overnight match in Philadelphia August 23.

The Pennsylvania Game News, which is published monthly by the State Game commission, editorializes as follows: A U. S. Senate bill, No. 8, 1152, introduced by Senator Pat McCarran from Nevada, ostensibly for the conservation of wildlife on public lands, is in reality a triple threat against the principles of conservation under which our wildlife has been saved from extinction.

Threat one makes it possible for certain federal officials, at their discretion, to take over absolute control and permit the hunting, trapping and killing in numbers to be determined by them, of game animals of either sex, on any public lands or reservation of the United States.

Threat two provides for the issuance of federal licenses "to citizens of the United States without regard to residence," and exempts the holders of such licenses from observance of state game laws.

Threat three, as the final blow, permits the sale of game animals. There is only one way to signify your protest against such a piece of dangerous legislation. That is to telegraph or write your own United States Senators or Representatives.

Even though it may have been presented in good faith, the fact nevertheless remains that no sportsman, no matter what part of the country he hails from, can afford to permit this bill to become a law. It would take from the states their long-standing right to control the upland game on any federal lands within their borders.

So he went on to expound upon this flight of fancy, saying that the customer at a ball park was basically no different than the customer at a butcher shop who naturally thought you were all right if you tossed in, gratis, a divot of liver or a bouquet of soup bones with his meat order. And was sure of it if you stuffed Junior's pockets with rock candy. So?

So he comes back to your butcher shop or your ball park. And everybody's very happy, notably the stockholders; especially if they're the Milwaukee stockholders who not so long ago were going down and jump off the pergola, if any, at city hall—for the convenience of the corner.

Popular Game Nearly Extinct; United Engineering, J. B. Revive Pastime

After nearly becoming extinct, softball is bouncing back with the speed of a new tennis (pre-war) ball.

Credit for the rebirth of a game which once lifted itself to the No. 1 post in local sport circles belongs to two industrial plants—the United Engineering and Johnson Bronze.

Seeking to foster an outside activity for recreational purposes, the local companies picked on one of the most popular games and a pastime which New Castle likes and knows. Circuits are functioning and producing rare thrills. In addition, games between the plants provide further enjoyment for participants and onlookers alike.

Morgrets Tops?

With the season preparing to bow out, the various teams are loud in claiming the city championship. The United Engineering Morgrets, winners of eight straight as a result of 80 runs, today rate themselves as tops.

Bostoners Roll Up 3-2 Edge For Series; Cards Boost Lead

Pirates Stay In Second As St. Louis Crushes Brooklyn Again, 7-4; Giants End Six Game Losing Streak, Dump Cincy, 5-3; Keller's Two Homers Give Yanks Split With Tigers; Senators Flatten Browns Twice; Indians Win.

By JOHN CASHMAN
International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Baseball might not have much influence on war, but that war makes a deep impression on the diamond game and the men who play it could not be more evident than it is now. The season has been studied with rhubarbs, harsh indictments, revolts, swinging fists and fines. The last notable to draw official frowns for uncouth demeanor was the Pittsburgh Pirates' Rip Sewell, who yesterday was docked $50 for his setto with Umpire George Barr before Monday's game.

Yas, it's been an exceptional season. Ellis Clary and Jack Peacock slugged it out, Clary to toe, at the plate. Johnny Allen went whacky in Pittsburgh; a near riot occurred in the same city over an attempted steal by Frankie Gustine; the whole Dodger clubhouse seethed with mutiny; Bill Cox, a club prexy, and Bucky Harris, a manager, discarded their royal robes long enough to call each other "pecks," and now we have four men fined in two days.

Braves Win, 6-1

And the rioting isn't over yet. Yesterday, almost immediately after his fine was announced, Sewell was again chased out of the park by the same arbiters. Barr, after an alleged slapping reference to Barr's capabilities as a man of at least 20-20 vision, The Boston Braves then went on to take a 6 to 1 victory over the Pirates, gaining a 3 to 2 edge in a five-game series. The winners scored five runs in the sixth.

All was serene with the New York Giants, who whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 3, after suffering six straight defeats. Harry Feldman held the Reds well until the seventh inning, where he suddenly developed a streak of wildness and was relieved by Rube Fischer.

The St. Louis Cardinals today had a four-game series from the Brooklyn Dodgers, after Mort Cooper turned back the Bums, 7 to 4, last night. Leo Durocher, Dodger pilot, kept things humming in the National League when he was thrown out of the park in the fourth inning by Umpire Al Barlick for disputing ball and strike decisions.

Yanks-Tigers Split

In the American League, the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers split a twin bill, the Tigers taking the first game, 4 to 0, behind the three-hit pitching of Virgil Trucks and Roy Henshaw, and dropping the nightcap, 12 to 4, under a cascade of Yankee hits. Trucks held the Yankees to one hit in 5-2-3 innings, and Henshaw allowed two of the rest of the route, Keller homered twice.

The Cleveland Indians whipped the Boston Red Sox, 11 to 9, after almost blowing a huge lead. Two home runs by Ken Keltner and one by Buddy Rosar helped Jim Bagby to an 11 to 3 lead, which he kept to the ninth inning, when the Sox scored six runs and had the tying tallies on base. Bagby was then relieved by Allie Reynolds, who fanned Lupien to end the uprising.

The Washington Senators swept their six-game series with the St. Louis Browns last night by winning both games of a double-header, 7 to 4 and 3 to 0. Stanley Spence swung out of a hitting slump to make seven hits in the two games.

BOWLES DESIRES SOME PROFESSORS

To Seek Repeal Of Congress Action Barring Them In OPA Without Business Experience

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Chester Bowles, new general manager of the office of price administration, today planned to seek repeal of the recently-enacted legislative barrier against employment of "professors" and "economists" without business experience in top OPA jobs.

Before a staff meeting of several hundred employees of OPA's price section, Bowles indicated his intention to request congress at some future date to rescind the restrictive amendment tacked on to a deficiency appropriation bill.

No Group Monopoly

The OPA executive, associates said, has expressed the opinion that no one group has a monopoly on ability and he hopes to build a well-rounded organization which will include both practicable business men and economists.

At the outset of his assumption of the duties as operating chief of the price control agency, Bowles told newsmen that everybody in general had been "a bit too hard on the professors."

In the course of his "pep talk," designed to boost the badly-shaken morale of the OPA which has been subjected to bitter criticism from all sides recently, Bowles also stressed these points:

1. Prices can and will be rolled back to the level of Sept. 15, 1942.
2. An intensive effort will be made to thoroughly inform the public on OPA regulations and their importance in the anti-inflation campaign.
3. Other government agencies besides OPA must bear their share of the fight against inflation.
4. OPA does not intend to carry a chip on its shoulder but those who refuse to abide by the regulations will be hit and hit hard.

Bowles appealed to the OPA personnel to keep "its chin up," assuring the agency's employees that they are not going to lose their jobs. He added that it would not be necessary to sweep out all of the professors and economists.

Five or six key executives in Washington and 10 or 12 field officials are expected to bow out of OPA, however, since Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown has said that the agency will follow the letter of the law and not try to evade the intent of congress.

HOLD PAIR CHARGED WITH THEFT OF GAS RATIONING COUPONS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—Allegheny county detectives today held two men on charges of having stolen ration coupons from a Meyersdale, Somerset county, board redeemable for 25,000 gallons of gasoline.

Joseph M. Stack, chief of county detectives, said Charles R. Hammers, 21, of Swissvale, and William H. Seese, 24, of Johnstown, admitted the theft to him after questioning led to the recovery of the missing coupons.

Stack declared the pair were arrested in Swissvale after being trained by detectives who had been advised by Police Chief Frank Gaskill, of Rankin, that two men were attempting to sell the ration books to service station attendants.

The men were lodged in the county jail to await arraignment.

MATERIAL PLENTIFUL
